Caverion signs large service agreement with Technopolis – will assume responsibility for five campuses in three countries

Technopolis has selected Caverion as its partner responsible for property maintenance services for its campuses in Finland, Sweden and Norway. The service agreement covering campuses in Helsinki, Espoo, Vantaa, Gothenburg and Oslo starts at the beginning of 2019. The value of the contract is not disclosed.

"We were convinced by Caverion's strong technical expertise and their ability to understand our business needs. Increasingly, we are looking for partners that have unified operating models across countries and the ability to grow with us globally. We want to offer our customers first-class work environment with premium customer experience. In the future Caverion will have an important role in this," says Ismo Myllymäki, Head of Property Management at Technopolis.

Caverion's comprehensive service agreement includes technical maintenance, energy monitoring as well as other remote monitoring services 24/7. In practice, Caverion's experts will follow uniform operating models across the sites in all countries and work at the campuses as a part of Technopolis organisation, leading to a more efficient and higher quality service delivery.

"Technopolis' business concept and strong focus on customers is unique. We are able to support Technopolis' growth strategy and to grow together with our customer. From the perspective of both Technopolis and Caverion, the end customer experience is essential, and I believe we can combine our expertise in this field. The satisfaction of the campus users will be our main measure for success. For Caverion, this partnership is significant in many ways and represents well the changing demand of our global customers," says Thomas Hietto, Head of Services Business Unit at Caverion.

Technopolis provides flexible and efficient office spaces, coworking spaces and related services. Technopolis has 17 campuses, which host 1,600 companies and their 50,000 employees in seven countries in the Nordics and the Baltic Sea region.

Technopolis belongs to Caverion's real estate investors and developers client segment. Read more about our services for real estate investors and developers.
